"Weeeeeeee!" yelled a dot falling from the sky. "Wait I'm falling from the sky".
Ahhhhhhhh!!!!!" Plump I dropped right into a dark, brown and misty hole. Then a green speckly shower started falling. Now I'm trapped! That's how I got started I think.

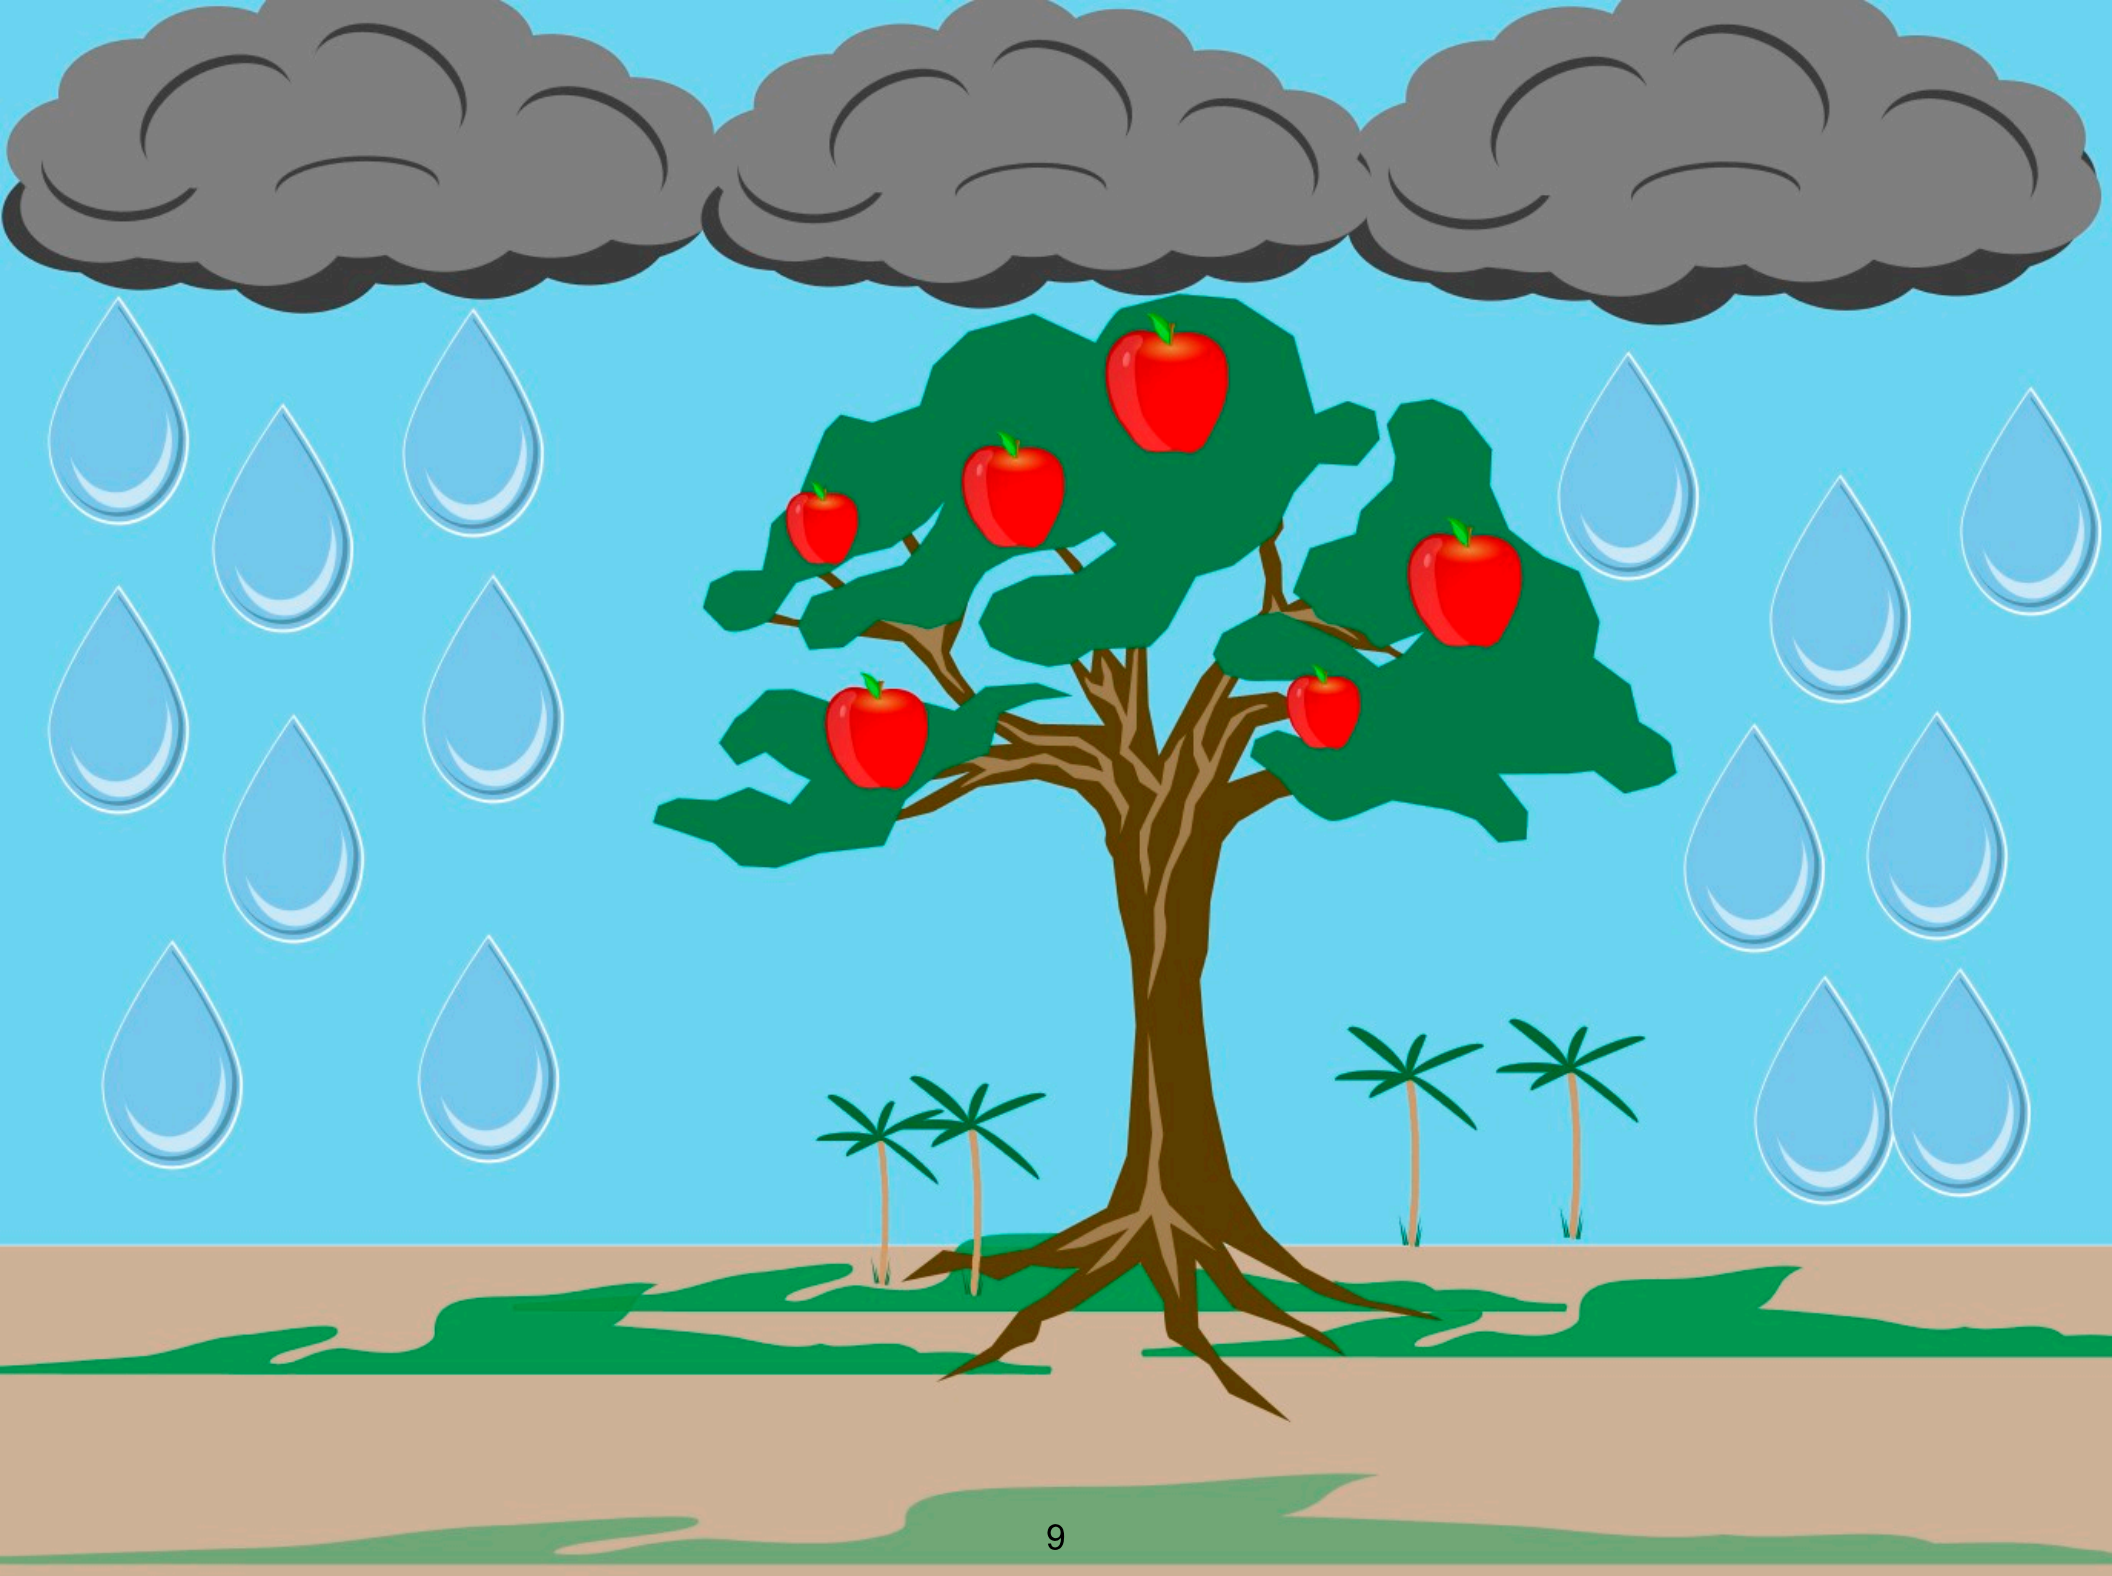

When it rains, it's like a shower and then I grow feet (roots). When it's sunny I get a sun tan and get even more feet. Then I started to grow a back (stem).

Then when it rains again, I grow a little bit of hair (leaves). I get another suntan and my hair gets even longer. My back gets thicker and taller.

Then my back is long and thick and hard. My hair is very long. My feet are thick and wide. I get tanned a lot. I am now an adult plant. I have all colored jewelry (fruit and flowers). But suddenly, I get a shower. Everything is getting a shower. Water starts piling up on me. I am glad I am 50 feet tall. I see all these little plants are frightened. I put my hair over them so they don't get flattened.

They didn't flatten which was good, but then this little person comes and hugs me. It is very windy, my hair starts to blow. That little person goes away. I hear this big boom and then this big flash of light. Worst of all it started to rain. But, then, I was very healthy. I was big and strong. Apparently that is how I grew.
